5. Old Business

A. Urban Forest Management Plan Update

Mr. Lane from Graf Tree Care was present on behalf of Phil Graf, the City's certified arborist consultant, who was unable to be present at the meeting. Last September, the Tree Commission endorsed and approved Graf Tree Care to write Phase I of the Urban Forestry Management Plan.

Mr. Lane gave a 30 minute presentation on the Urban Forestry Management Plan outline Graf Tree Care has been writing. (See attached document, "Urban Forestry Management Plan Outline".) Steve Lane made the following points throughout his presentation.

- There will be three phases to this process; the first will be to review the existing policies, verbal, city code, etc. The UFMP document will be based on these policies.
- This is an "interpretation of and an addition to" any actual ordinances or codes that currently exist at the City.
- This document will be a living, breathing document in which the City and the Tree Commission, (hereinafter referred to as "Commission"), will be able to point to and say, "here is where we are now, here is where we are going and here are some management tools to measure our goals along the way".
- Each section of the document will include a full mission statement and goals.
- Steve reviewed several of the goals in Section 1: Mission Statement and Goals. He explained the "20-10-5 Rule". This urban forestry best management practice guards against future pest and pathogen outbreaks similar to the Emerald Ash Borer (EAB) outbreak. The goal is to have no more than 20% of families, no more than 10% of any one genus and no more than 5% of any one species out in the parkway and out in the tree population. He proceeded to explain the goal was very similar to finance investing: the - more diversified the assets, the less you lose in individual assets when you take a loss. Diversifying the tree population is the key to future devastations similar to the EAB.

- Best management practices and ANSI Standards will be incorporated into the document. It will also include the expectations for pruning, removal and tree maintenance; hired contractors will need to meet both the ANSI standards and City's expectations.
  - There is currently a big push in citizen engagement and discussions regarding private land, not just parkway trees. Incorporating citizen work days by the Tree Commission has been a great asset to the organization and the community. Moving through the creation of this document, Steve would like as much input from the Commission on community programs and other citizenry engagement programs. Remember to include the Master Gardener's group, etc.
  - This should be a document your average citizen should be able to read and understand. It should also include long term goals that will be achieved 20 to 30 years from now.

Comm. Duerr noticed that an arborist was not listed in Section 3- Key Personnel.

AJ Reineking, Public Works Manager, indicated we have an arborist on staff, but do not have a City Arborist position at the current time. This section of the document will be reviewed by the City staff to make it as comprehensive as possible.

- Several sections, e.g., Tree Removal, Tree Pruning, Planting and Inspections are very similar in structure. They will include scope of work, responsibility, reasons for the work, outcome and the objectives of the operations, and requirements/standards.

Comm. Riordan noticed there was no mention regarding removal of invasive species.

Mr. Lane stated that invasive species was included in Section 2 – Definitions, #32. He mentioned invasive species in the parkways have not been an issue, but they are still evident in the open lands. He recommended some type of language should be included in the document in an attempt to minimize the effect of invasive species in the area. He also added certain cities in Illinois required a permit to remove a tree on private property; some cities charge a fee, others do not. Furthermore some of those same cities did not require a permit if an invasive species was removed.

- Removal of a tree can be a very emotional issue for residents; clearly stating the reasons for removal in this document can be an advantage to all who are addressing urban forestry questions, "This is our policy, this is why, and this is the plan."
- Steve explained the "locally overplanted and underperforming" bullet point in the Tree Removal section of this plan. Even though the removal of ash trees is coming to an end, tree removal will continue. Some of the best forestry management practices include the removal of species that are "overrepresented in the population" and "underperforming" trees. Underperforming trees would be trees that are reaching the end of their useful life in the parkway or that may have structural defects. There are guidelines defined by the state that need to be considered before removing a tree. Heritage trees will be kept, but there are trees that start to buckle sidewalks, become a nuisance for the storm water management system, or are diseased or dying trees that need to be removed. The removal of these trees creates new spaces for diverse plantings.
- Reducing risk and risk management also needs to be considered; the City will need to develop a standardized labeling process in which trees will be labeled "low", "moderate", or "high" risk trees that could cause personal injury.
- Both written and verbal policies will be written into the UFMP.
- The Tree Planting section will be a very important part of this document. Taking accurate inventory, diversifying the urban forest utilizing the 20-10-5 rule, and create a 5, 10, 20 & 40 year plan will be essential.
- Encouraging tree planting on private property will be part of this document. This could include discounts at local nurseries, which would encourage residents to plant a tree.
- Having a very strongly worded tree inspection and risk abatement policy will be an important part of this document for litigation purposes, but it needs to be individually tailored to the City.

- Development and Construction Ordinances, Potential Programs for Increasing Canopy Cover/Diversity and Accounting & Budget will also be sections to include in the document.
- Please contact, AJ Reineking, Tony Bellafiore or Steve directly at Graf Tree Care if there are any crucial points missing from this outline.

B. Reorganization of the Tree Commission

Comm. Myers recommended this agenda item be postponed until the May meeting. Several committee members were not present, and in the interest of having sufficient time to cover all the details for Arbor Day, this agenda item was postponed until the May meeting.

6. New Business

A. News and Concerns from Public Works

Tony Bellafiore indicated that the Public Services division continues to focus on trimming in several areas of the city.

The two-hundred and six (206) trees will be planted by Pedersen Landscape Company throughout the next few weeks. The Spring Planting program was postponed until next week due to the today's weather conditions.

B. Langum Woods Clean Up Recap

Comm. Otto who led the Clean Up program on March 14 was not present at the meeting. Caroline Wilfong and Isabel Soderlind shared several pictures taken that morning at Langum Park. Approximately 30 volunteers, Boy Scout Troop 500 and several citizens made headway on the clean-up efforts.

Isabel Soderlind, on behalf of Comm. Otto, asked if any of the commissioners would be available to lead another Langum Woods Clean Up on April 25. One of the seniors at St. Charles East High School was unable to attend the March clean up and she has an eco-minded group of student volunteers interested in continuing the cleanup efforts. Ms. Soderlind has not received a confirmation from the student as of yet, but would send an email to all the commissioners once the date was confirmed.

Mr. Lane did express an interest in volunteering his time at the Langum Woods Clean Up. He asked the Committee contact him anytime they were planning another "clean up" event.

7. Committee Reports

A. Education Committee:

Ms. Soderlind gave an update on the books ordered back in February, "Why Would Anyone Cut a Tree Down?" by Roberta Burzynski. The books continue to be on back order and she did not expect them to arrive before Arbor Day. One book will be donated to each of the local schools when they arrive.

B. Publicity Committee:

Comm. Wilfong ordered the "Celebrate Arbor Day/ City of St. Charles" stamp and has stamped approximately 400 out of 2000 free pamphlets on "How to Plant Trees", from the Arbor Day Foundation. The pamphlets have been distributed to Lincoln School, the Municipal Center and at the Public Works Facility. They will be handed out at Arbor Day and placed in the school lobbies advertising Arbor Day.

C. Arbor Day

As a gift to Mrs. Tieche, Comm. Myers ordered Tree Tags and related curriculum book from the Morton Arboretum. The tags are free and come with instructions and other educational information. This is a gift Mrs. Tieche could utilize in the coming years with her students.

Arbor Day is scheduled for 4:00 PM, Friday, April 24, 2015.
 Lincoln Park has been reserved through the Park District from 2:00 to 6:00 PM.

NEW STUDY FROM THE MORTON ARBORETUM REVEALS CHICAGOANS' TAKE ON TREES

- As Chicago-area tree canopy shrinks, new survey finds majority of Chicagoans concerned about region's tree loss, yet unsure how to help trees in their neighborhoods -

LISLE, Illinois (April 28, 2015) – Chicago and its seven surrounding counties have more than 150 million trees—trees that make our communities healthier, more sustainable and more beautiful. Yet Chicago-area trees are under threat, with one of every five [i]<file:///Y:/Media%20Relations/Press%20Releases/Sent%20Releases%202015/ARBOR%20DAY%202015%20press%20materials/Tree%20Poll%20Release%20FINAL.docx#_edn1> parkway trees likely to soon be destroyed by the emerald ash borer beetle.

At this tree “tipping point,” Chicago-area residents are concerned, as evidenced by a new survey commissioned by The Morton Arboretum. The Lisle-based tree-focused institution’s Talking Trees survey reveals just how much Chicago-area residents care about our trees and the future of our urban forest—the trees that live alongside people in our city and suburbs.

Key findings include:

- * A green neighborhood is an ideal neighborhood. Two-thirds of those surveyed place top importance on trees when deciding where they want to live, saying they would “never live in a neighborhood without trees.”

- * Tree loss has an emotional impact. 60% of Chicago-area residents say they are concerned with the loss of trees in their city, while nearly half are specifically aware of the emerald ash borer beetle.

- * We know our cities’ trees need human help to thrive, yet aren’t sure how to help them. Eight of 10 Chicagoans believe that our trees need human help to thrive, which is especially true in our populated cities, where trees undergo extra stress living alongside people and cars, as well as in smaller spaces. Yet, while 65% agree that the trees where they live need to be checked regularly for pests and diseases, only 41% know that our area’s trees need help getting enough water, and even fewer (36%) are aware that trees need mulch to thrive in cities.

- * Chicago-area residents understand some of the benefits of trees. Most Chicagoans know that trees clean our air (86%), and “make me healthier” (66%). But only about half know that they have an impact on flooding (49%), and only slightly more know that trees increase a home’s value (56%), and protect against climate change (57%).

- * We understand the concept of “tree diversity” and its importance in the future of our cities.

The best defense against future tree pests is to plant a wide variety of trees—and nearly three-fourths of those surveyed agree! According to the Arboretum’s experts, the best defense against major tree loss is to plant a varied selection of trees.

Trees Under Threat

An estimated 10,000 tree species are threatened worldwide, trees that support ecosystems around the world. Yet, compared to threatened animals like the panda bear or bald eagle, trees receive much less awareness. In fact, only 3 in 10 Chicagoans can name an endangered or threatened tree, while nearly 6 of 10 Chicagoans can name an endangered animal.

Chicago’s Trees Need Champions

Now more than ever, every tree needs a champion, especially those that live in urban areas. Facing compacted soils, artificial surfaces, summer heat, and physical damage to limbs and roots, our urban trees need human intervention to live. Meanwhile, people—quite literally—cannot live without trees and the myriad benefits they provide. This why the Chicago region’s urban forest needs planning, management and care.

The Morton Arboretum’s arborists, horticulturists, researchers and teams of volunteers work diligently to protect and conserve the trees that make our cities so beautiful, dealing daily with issues like the emerald ash borer and fungal diseases that are decimating much of the Chicago-area treescape. But every Chicagoan can do his or her part to help our area’s trees thrive.

Here are five easy ways residents can champion trees in their city:

1. Water trees along the street. Trees near the street add hugely to the beauty and character of your neighborhood and increase your property values. Trees like long, slow drinks so leave the hose, barely dribbling, at the base of the tree for an hour or more. Or use a soaker hose.
2. Protect tree bark. A tree’s outer and inner bark help guard against damage by weather, insects, animals, and organisms that can cause disease. Their bark is easily hurt if it is struck by lawnmowers and string trimmers. Be careful not to damage them when mowing and edging. Don’t chain bikes to trees or drill to hang swings.
3. Watch out for roots. In confined areas, some trees’ roots are forced to the surface of the soil. Avoid mowing over those roots; damaging them can cut off the flow of water and nutrients.
4. Mulch right. Mulch, wood chips or shredded bark placed over a tree’s roots, does a lot to help trees, keeping tree roots cooler and healthier in summer and preventing water from evaporating so tree roots can use it. Spread mulch in a wide, even, flat layer about 3 to 4 inches deep around the base of a tree. Don’t pile it against the trunk in the shape of a volcano; it can trap moisture that causes rot or harbors insects and diseases.
5. Choose the right tree for the right location. Different kinds of trees need different conditions. Before you embark on planting a tree, make sure it is the right size and that you can give it the sun, shade and soil it needs to thrive in your yard. The Arboretum's Plant Clinic<<http://www.mortonarb.org/trees-plants/tree-and-plant-advice/plant-clinic>> can help.

Methodological Notes

The Morton Arboretum's survey was conducted by Wakefield Research among 500 Chicago-DMA resident adults aged 18+, between March 23 and March 30, 2015, using an email invitation and online survey. Quotas have been set to ensure reliable and accurate representation of the Chicago-DMA adult population 18 and older.

Results of any sample are subject to sampling variation. The magnitude of that variation is measurable and is affected by the number of interviews conducted. For the interviews conducted in this particular study, the chances are 95 in 100 that a survey result does not vary, plus or minus, by more than 3.1 percentage points from the results that would be obtained if interviews had been conducted with all persons in the universe represented by the sample. Complete survey results are available.
